PROSPEROUS STEEL CONTRACTOR HELD FOR 1910 BANDITRY

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 17.—Clifford S. Heller, prosperous steel contractor, was arrested charged with being the man who blew the safe of the Mount Holly National bank, Mount Holly, N. J., in 1910 and escaped with $18,510.50.

According to police, Heller has been living in Detroit with his wife as L. W. Smith, 393 Philip avenue. His offices were at 492 Wayne street.

Heller made a full confession, and has been turned over to federal authorities, it is said.

The arrest of Heller reveals a fiction-like story of how love made an alleged criminal go straight, with friends and fortune in a legitimate business only to have the unrelenting law bring everything tumbling about him.

A week ago detectives received a tip that pointed to Heller, or Smith as he was known here. They followed him for a week, saw him dine in a downtown hotel with his wife, conduct his prosperous business at his office. And then they arrested him.

He broke down and wept, they said as he confessed.

"It's gone straight for years" he told them, "trying to atone for what I did."

Heller told police, they said, that he was 33 years old when he robbed the bank. He wandered about the country until about seven years ago when he came here and decided to settle down. He met the girl who is now his wife and he said she brought about the transformation.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 18 (INS).—In the county jail today among the same type of unfortunates he has charitably helped to "go straight." Clifford S. Heller, 52, steel contractor, awaiting trial in federal court on a charge of stealing $18,510 from the safe of the Mount Holly National Bank, Mount Holly, N. J., in 1910.

Ellis Parker, detective of Burlington county, New Jersey, is on his way to Detroit today from Camden, N. J., to take Heller back to Mount Holly, ending a pursuit half way around the world over a period of 14 years.

Arraigned yesterday, Heller's hearing was set for Dec. 26, under bond of $25,000.

Luthersburg Boy Suffers Fracture Of Skull When Hit By An Automobile

DuBois, Pa., Dec. 18.—Gale Nolder, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Nolder, of Luthersburg is in the Maple avenue hospital at the present time suffering from a fractured skull as a result of being struck by an automobile near his home yesterday afternoon shortly after four o'clock. The lad was still in an unconscious condition last evening, the full extent of his injuries not yet having been ascertained.

According to the boy's mother, the youngster was on his way home from school when the accident occurred. A Chevrolet coupe driven by Harry Valentine, of Luthersburg, struck the boy as he was walking along the road knocking him to the ground. The driver immediately placed the boy in the car and brought him to this city, where he was removed to the Maple Avenue Hospital. His condition is regarded as serious.

DR. POTTER LISTS FOURTEEN POINTS FOR LEGISLATURE

Harrisburg, Dec. 18 (INS).—Following her recent announcement that the State will face a "scandal" in the near future unless money is appropriated to meet hospital and other public institution needs, Dr. Ellen C. Potter, secretary of Welfare, has written a list of "fourteen points" to be considered by the Legislature and by the Governor in making up his budget for the coming biennium.

Dr. Potter is asking for $19,000,000 for the fulfillment of the State's needs in the Welfare Department and since large amounts can only be borrowed in Pennsylvania by bond issues approved by the electorate in the form of constitutional amendments, and as such amendments cannot be submitted before 1928, if any amount approximating that asked by Dr. Potter, should be appropriated, it would have to come from general revenue. With apprehension keen that the revenue will not meet the requirements of general expenses, the Legislature apparently will be faced with the alternative of either increasing taxes considerably or once more forego expansion of the hospitals, homes and institutions.

Dr. Potter's fourteen immediate needs are as follows:

1. A new Eastern Penitentiary to accommodate 2,000.
2. Expansion of Laurelton State Village for feeble-minded to accommodate 2,000, relieving Polk and Pennsylvania State schools and jails.
3. An epileptic farm with capacity of at least 1,000.
4. An institution for defective delinquent males.
5. Completion of Rockview Penitentiary to receive 1,000.
6. Expansion of Muncy farms, an industrial home for women offenders committed by courts above grade of misdemeanants.
7. Expansion of Fairview State Hospital for Criminal Insane.
8. Expansion of Torrence State Hospital from 300 to 1,000.
9. An entire new unit at Pennsylvania State hospital for men and women.
10. Expansion of Polk State school by added unit for 500 boys, total 3,500.
11. Long distance planning for addition of 600 beds annually in mental hospitals till prevention program shows results.
12. Erection of neuro-psychiatric hospitals in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.
13. Erection of accessory buildings at all institutions to meet needs of staff and employees.
14. Acquisition of land to protect water sheds from contamination and development of proper fire-fighting lines and equipment.

PITCH PINE CLUB ENTERTAINS

The successful deer hunters, and some others, connected with the Pitch Pine Camp, entertained members and guests to the number of twenty-six at a beefsteak dinner at their fine new hunting camp on the mountains eleven miles north of town last evening.

YEGGMEN MAKE TWO ATTEMPTS TO BLOW ERIE VILLAGE SAFE

Erie, Pa., Dec. 18. (INS).—After twice blowing the safe in the post office at Edinboro, Erie county, early today, five yeggs were pursued for many miles by a posse of farmer, armed with sawed-off shotguns, who kept up a running fire upon the carrying the safe blowers until they lost sight of them a few miles out side of Erie.

Another machine picked up the trail as it went through Erie, only to lose the robbers near North Girard 15 miles west of here.

It was one of the most daring robberies ever attempted in this county. While an interurban trolley car stood on the tracks not a hundred feet from the post office, the men blew the safe.

The first charge was unsuccessful and even while residents of Edinboro were telephoning about for assistance to capture the men, they let go a second charge. This set off the siren or top of the post office building used for fire alarms. The men fled and started towards Erie.

By that time residents of the town, heavily armed, had gathered and they boarded the trolley car nearby and started in pursuit.

Officials of the post office said this morning the yeggs did not secure any money from the safe.

24 DIE WHEN VILLAGE IS COVERED BY EARTHQUAKE

Manila, P. I., Dec. 18 (INS).—Twenty-four persons were killed when the village of Hekdop Island off the coast of Mindanao slid down the mountain side following an earthquake.

The Red Cross is sending aid to the villagers.

POSTAL PAY BILL WILL NOT COME TO VOTE TILL JAN. 6

Washington, Dec. 18 (INS).—The Senate yesterday afternoon agreed to postpone a vote on President Coolidge's veto of the postal pay bill until Jan. 6.

The veto message will come up on January 5 and a final vote is scheduled for next day.

In the meantime, administration leaders will seek to consolidate their forces for passage of a bill combining postage increase with increases in salaries of postal employees.

COLD WAVE FLIVVERED

That cold wave from the west the weather man promised us for last evening flivvered completely and gentle spring zephyrs escorting April showers appeared instead. That, too, just as we had contracted a fine crop of goose flesh up and down along our back bone in anticipation of a zero drop in the thermometer. It's getting so that one hates to believe the weather man anymore, even when he does hit it, which he occasionally do.

Curwensville Boys And Girls Cop 27 Of The 28 Home Lighting Prizes

Clearfield sure has to take a back seat for the Curwensville home lighting students. Only one, Robert Lutz, of Clearfield, succeeded in getting in the prizes offered by the Penn Public Service Corporation for the best lighting plans and essays submitted on a layout furnished by the prize donors.

Out of 23 prizes offered, Curwensville boys and girls easily walked away with 27, and judging from what we know of the contest, had there been 98 prizes, Curwensville school pupils would have captured 97 of them.

Congratulations, Robert Lutz. Clearfield needs more like you. More congratulations to Curwensville youngsters. You put a good one over on your cousins down the river.

Much of the success won by Curwensville students is due to the time and attention given the home lighting problem by Professor Grant Norris of the Curwensville public schools. Mr. Norris realized that proper home lighting is a real necessity in every home, that it reduces eye strain, makes for happiness and good cheer. As a result he made home lighting a study in the schools. As a result Curwensville school pupils when they come to that all important stage of life where they are homemakers, will be in a position to illuminate their homes effectively, beautifully and economically.

"AIRPLANE REACHES 21ST BIRTHDAY AND FINDS INADEQUATE EMPLOYMENT; READY TO DO MAN'S WORK"—WRIGHT

Dayton, O., Dec. 17 (INS).—The airplane on its 21st anniversary today, is like a young man just reaching his majority, "looking for a job," Orville Wright, who with his brother Wilbur, made the first flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., December 17, 1903, said today.

"Like the young man," Mr. Wright said, "it has developed through the years from an object of no practical usefulness, though of great interest, into an object of great latent possibilities, but like the young man it is in a sense now looking for a job."

"These prizes resulted in Bleriot crossing the English Channel and Paulham's flying from London to Manchester and in Alcock's and Brown's flight across the Atlantic."

"When my brother Wilbur and I made the first flight December 17, 1903, we did not picture even in imagination, the crossing of the American continent in a single flight."

"That of Lieut. John A. McCready and Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly in the famous T-2, nor the encircling of the

"Bearded Lady" in Sacrifice

"Ladies and gents—this way to see the bearded lady. Helgho! Helgho!" Curious folk, stopping to gaze open-mouthed at "Madame Christine, the bearded lady" in a Los Angeles freak museum, didn't know that Mrs. Baker M. Twyman was supporting a child and a sick husband by the returns from her unusual facial adornment. Now that her husband thanks her for her sacrifice is well again, Mrs. Twyman has been given a "permanent slave" and has returned to live with her family at Peoria, Ill.

CAMDEN COUPLE FIND BABY BOY LOST SIX MONTHS AGO; READY NOW FOR A GREAT, BIG, HAPPY, MERRY CHRISTMAS

Camden, N. J., Dec. 18 (INS).—"This is a wonderful Christmas present. It will be the most joyous my wife and I have ever had."

This was what Russell Earl Steimling, of Philadelphia, said today while he and his wife were taking turns hugging and kissing their two year old son Russell Earl, Jr., who after six months in the custody of kidnappers, will be formally restored to his overjoyed parents today.

The Steimlings have sent to their old home near Mahoney City, Pa., for their child's birth certificate, which is the only thing to complete the identification, police said.

Mrs. Steimling recognized a photograph of her infant in a Philadelphia newspaper yesterday and immediately she and her husband came here last night to claim their long lost son.

Russell, Jr., had been left in the rooming house of Israel Shatz here by a young couple who mysteriously disappeared Tuesday night. Yesterday Mrs. Shatz found the infant on a bed.

The child was stolen while a family reunion was being held in the Steimling home. No one saw the kidnapping. Mrs. Steimling who is only 20 years old, said today she saw no reason why "they took my child."

DEATH RATE WAS HIGH

According to the records of State Registrar of Vital Statistics W. A. Hagerty, in his district, of which Clearfield and Lawrence township made up the major portion, there have been 330 deaths up to December 1st. This is the largest number of deaths ever recorded in this district.

The Stork Express did yeoman service during the eleven month period as the births totaled 625.

Jap Threatens American Ambassador To Japan; Had Concealed Weapon

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Tokyo, Dec. 18.—Bunki Aikawa was arrested in the vicinity of the old United States embassy today when police learned he was seeking United States Ambassador Edgar A. Bancroft.

Aikawa, 22, son of a priest, approached the former embassy compound and demanded an interview with Bancroft. When police arrested and searched him they found he was carrying a dagger.

After an investigation it was claimed by police that Aikawa had tried to buy a bomb previously.

Ambassador Bancroft, was not in the vicinity of the old compound and was not menaced in any way.

Aikawa was turned over to alienists for examination, police believe him to be insane.

In demanding an interview with Ambassador Bancroft, Aikawa declared the recent attitude of the United States in the immigration controversy was "contrary to international courtesy" and intimated he would "make demands" upon the ambassador.

LONE BANDIT KILLS 1, WOUNDS ANOTHER AT PORT ALLEGHENY

Bradford, Pa., Dec. 18 (INS).—City police and county authorities led by county detective Jack Allison of Smithport are following several trails in the man hunt for the bandit who early today shot and killed Earl J. Fetterly, 39, owner of Maple Shade Inn at Port Allegheny, this county and seriously injured William Barro, cashier of the Port Allegheny First National Bank in an attempted holdup of the inn.

The robber who was described as youthful looking and of small stature entered the Inn with his face partially covered by a large handkerchief. When he levelled his gun at several men in the room Fetterly refused to obey his command of "hands up" and grappled with the robber who shot him several times.

On bullet struck Fetterly between the eyes and he died instantly. Barro ran to help the innkeeper and was also shot on the forehead, but not seriously. In the confusion following the shooting the robber escaped. He wore a dark brown overcoat and cap.

The Legislative Program Of The American Legion Appeals To President

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—President Coolidge's approval in large part of the legislative program of the American Legion, expressed in his annual message to congress, is expected here to have great weight in securing favorable action by congress upon the various measures sponsored by the Legion.

Speaking of the Legion as "the chief and most representative body of veterans," the President said, "With many of the proposals I join in hearty approval and commend them all to the sympathetic investigation and consideration of the congress."

More important measures proposed by the Legion are: the universal service bill for conscription of men, money and materials in case of war; a bill for retiring disabled emergency army officers; liberalizing amendments to the Reed-Johnson bill for the disabled, and amendments to the adjusted compensation act making it possible for a veteran to action his rights to any patriotic organization chartered by congress. The Legion, it is said, will press for passage of this legislation at the present session.

theft, he will at least go with an easy conscience, he said today in his cell at the county jail.

"For nearly 10 years," said the cultured, gray little fugitive, "I have contributed regularly to charities. All of these charities are part of my scheme for atonement. I have helped many former convicts and three are now depending on me for jobs."

"I always have been afraid to give myself up but until I worked out this scheme of atonement I never was easy in my mind. About three years after I left Mount Holly I decided to do as much as possible for other people. As soon as I put this plan into effect I felt easier until recent years the fact that I was a fugitive had almost died out of my recollection."

"So you see," he said, "no matter what view the Federal people take of my case, I feel that in the eyes of God and of society I should be considered to have made full atonement."

Santa Claus' Christmas tree nursery this year is yielding between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 evergreens for use as Christmas decorations in Pennsylvania alone. In the estimates of State officials who have been studying the Christmas tree industry for years, the public will pay more than $2,000,000 to retailers this season for holiday greens.

Ivy-covered, but apparently as strong as the day it was built, more than one hundred and fifty years ago historians have discovered that an old stone building at Gettysburg housed the first school west of the Susquehanna river.

The school was founded in 1773 by the Rev. Alexander Dobbin, a Scotch-Irish missionary, who realized the community's need for a school. He was interested deeply in the temporal as well as the spiritual welfare of the people, and with this motive in mind opened the school, which for many years bore his name. The school was closed in 1801.

During the battle of Gettysburg the Dobbin house was used as a hospital, being fitted for that purpose because of a stream of running water next to the kitchen and which could be reached without venturing outside. The property now is owned by Mrs. H. B. Nixon, of Gettysburg, and is used as the home for a number of families.

There is bound to be considerable tinkering with the game and fish laws at the coming session of the Pennsylvania Legislature and the sportsmen of the State who supply the money for the carrying on of both the game and fish department will do well to be up on their toes, so to speak, to guard their interests. The combined license moneys paid in for hunting and fishing licenses total three quarters of a million dollars annually and impecunious and reckless legislators have long been seeking means whereby the legislature might insert its tentacles into this fund and scatter it to the four winds in carrying out some of their pet but unworkable ideas.

The State Centre Game Fish and Forestry Association, with its more than 200 members, is already on the job, representing the views of the sportsmen of Clearfield, and Centre counties and proposes to carefully scan every piece of legislation presented that affects the interests of the sportsmen of this section. They will be heard from too, whenever anything shady is discovered. Every sportsman in this region should enroll in this organization which has its headquarters at Philipsburg and branches throughout both counties.

Mother of Ballooning.
A washerwoman was the mother of ballooning and it all started in France about 1750. The washerwoman wished to dry a skirt more rapidly than could be accomplished by air and sunshine, so she rigged it up over the fireplace. The hot air soon dried the cloth and the woman was astonished to see it round out into a ball and float up to the ceiling. A neighbor named Montgolfier saw the strange occurrence and it gave him the idea from which he made the first balloon.

Oiled Axes Stop Friction.
Wheels with oiled axes actually run on films of oil. When the axle is placed under the microscope its surface, which to the eye is smooth, really is covered with depressions and bumps. So, too, with the inside of the hub of the wheel. If the wheel were allowed to run without oil the bumps on the axle and on the hub would rub together and cause friction. This would cause the axle and hub to become heated and expand and stick.

GOMPERS

All classes, all sections, all racial strains, have joined in paying honor to Sam Gompers, the English Jew, American cigar maker and veteran labor leader. It is a deserved tribute to brains, character and usefulness.

Of Gompers' brains there is no question. His bitterest enemies will grant that most readily. In him, often, America's foremost captains of industry met their intellectual match.

But brains alone, unsupported by moral qualities, are of little use. It was the will, the determination, the fighting power and the essential integrity back of those brains that made them effective. Gompers was a fiery idealist, fighting for labor as many a man of his type, in former ages, fought for a religious faith. Many have questioned the wisdom of Gompers' opinions and methods, but few who knew him have questioned his honesty and devotion to duty as he saw it.

There should be no question, at this time, when it is possible to take a calm survey of the leader's work during a remarkable period of industrial and social progress, that on the whole, Gompers' work has been useful and valuable.

He helped along a movement for labor organization which was probably inevitable, in some form or other, as was the business organization accompanying it. And he did much to give organized labor in America a form and spirit agreeable to American democracy and individualism, in contrast to the Socialistic form assumed by the movement in so many foreign countries.

It is due to him, more than to any other man, that American labor on the whole has yielded so little to the forces of destructive radicalism.

NAVAL COMPETITION

There is a frenzied competition again in the building of warships, however that fact may be disguised. And thus the very thing aimed at, and until recently supposed achieved, by the Washington arms conference, is jeopardized.

Does all this elaborate discussion of navies in Congress and in the newspapers and magazines do any good? Apparently it only serves to inflame the spirit of competition. The public is told fervidly how much stronger the Japanese navy and the British navy are than they ought to be, and how much weaker our navy is. The same sort of debate goes on in Japan and Great Britain, with regard to our navy and the navies of other nations. It is all "big armament" talk, and the method is precisely that by which the pre-war competition was fanned. Continued, it can lead only to far larger expenditures by tax-weary nations, to more ill-feeling on the part of nations none too friendly now, and possibly to new wars.

The American navy should be kept effective, at or reasonably near the size set by the agreed ratio. Our naval authorities say that the other powers have not exceeded their ratio. It should be, then, simply a matter of calm building on our part of such vessels as we need and as are permissible by the terms of the five-power naval treaty. Why all the excitement?

If there is any question about the ratios being carried out in good faith, or if this frenzied argument and recrimination continues, there should be another conference called to settle the matter. Ill feeling is developing now; and ill-feeling is more dangerous than hostile warships, because it is the seed of wars.

BIGGER AND BIGGER, WHITER AND WHITER!

In the Courts

Anthony Dragonas of DuBois, who was prosecuted by State Policeman Barker for violation of the liquor law yesterday afternoon, was lucky enough to have the Court decide he was guilty of no crime and the jury was relieved of the necessity of determining his guilt or innocence. However the case was given to the jury on the question of the costs and it took them all night to agree that Dragonas should pay the costs. The jury is said to have stood 11 to 1 from sunset last evening until sunrise this morning before the one fellow would go over to the eleven contrary ones.

Walter Maloski, of DuBois was convicted this morning on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He got a $200 fine and costs and four months in jail.

When Milewski was up for sentence following the return of the verdict of guilty, Judge Chase said "Walter, I am rather inclined to think the jury was right in its conclusion that you were drunk when you cut up the complained of dildos with your car. If you were not drunk you were entirely too smart, and about half the sentence we are going to impose upon you is for being just that—too smart.

The jury which heard the evidence in the case of Sam Cabul and Gust Aluno yesterday informed the litigants that the criminal court room was an expensive place to settle neighborhood scraps. Cabul had Aluno arrested for pointing fire arms and the jury decided that Aluno was not guilty and that Sam should pay 60 per cent of the costs of the case, while Gust was digging up the remaining 40 per cent.

Joe Lapolski, the Glen Hope man who was convicted of violation of the motor law for driving his car while intoxicated, was sentenced by Judge Chase to pay a fine of $200, the costs and serve 30 days in jail.

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Ralston's office this morning against the Clearfield County Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Company by Bell, Boulton & Forsyth, representing T. L. Way, of Pike township for the purpose of recovering $4100. Mr. Way had an insurance policy with the company on his barn and contents which went up in smoke on October 2nd, 1924. The adjusters and the insured agreed upon an adjustment of $4100, but despite the fact this agreement was reached more than two months ago, Mr. Way has not been paid and this suit is brought to force payment of the amount.

The jury yesterday afternoon didn't believe Mike Kanczka, of Woodward township, when he said he gave the prosecuting witness a pop bottle full of moonshine instead of taking 50 cents for same, as testified to by the witness. The jury declared Mike guilty of bootlegging and Judge Chase sentenced Mike to pay $400 fine and costs and serve 4 months in the county jail.

Flower Sermon.

Flower sermon had its origin in St. Catherine Cree, England. On Whit Monday each of the congregation carried a bunch of flowers, and a larger bunch was laid on the pulpit cushion. The custom has sprung, but it has somewhat changed. Now in many churches the flower sermon is preached on Sunday and the church is decorated with flowers, the members of the congregation also bring flowers with them to the service. The idea of holding this service varies in different churches, but it is usually held in the spring or early summer, when there is an abundance of flowers.

WOMEN'S EDITORIAL

THE LOVE THAT FAILS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

"When one knocks at the door of society the heartiness of the 'come in' depends on the income of the applicant," said an epigrammatic speaker before an audience of women the other day. And then he went on to couple modern marriage neatly for analysis, I see a recipe on a pin.

"Honeymoon" are too often money moons. Matrimony is apt to depend on the matrimony, all of which makes marriage merely legalized prostitution," declared this out-of-control gentleman.

"Too true, in many cases, as the records show. But divorce flourisher also on other food than love of lacte.

"They both tried to make each other over," is being said of one young couple whose friends have hoped in vain for a reconciliation.

"He was a hen-lover, caring little for outside diversions, while she four dancing and bridge necessary to happiness. He was a good musician and wanted to see his wife cultivate her own talent, but a ditty derangement at the piano and singing in a voice that was scarcely more than a thin chirp, were all that she would interest herself in.

"When they tried to talk things over," he was impulsive and hasty and said more than he meant to say. She was cold and said little, keeping her grievances locked inside, where they rankled in secret."

"Foolish man, to do it woman. "Love is hurt by jar and fret." By and by there was little left on her side, and only a critical, hurt, unsatisfied longing on his. "But they seemed to love each other so much at first," say the married friends, now that the divorce court looms.

What of the good old maxim "bear and forbear" and the modern "fifty-fifty" platform? Where the steadfastness that led our pioneer fathers and mothers to stand by each other, absorbed in making a home and rearing a family, though strains differed and temperaments clashed?

Honeymoon or honeymoon, selfishness and lack of fair dealing, constant bickering and misunderstanding will wreck any marriage.

Trustworthy All Through.

You can always trust the man who sees something fine about everything. When you say, "It was a cold night last night," if he chimes in "That is fine this morning," and keeps it right up all day long, you are sure to see him up and placing your feet back in his hands. It will be all right when you get it for it—Selected.

Opportunity in Overall?

The reason most people do not recognize an opportunity when they meet it is because it usually goes around wearing overalls and looking like hard work. (Hoops Dadd).

Be Not Deceived.

Do not work out together for you won't work at all.

Old Ovens Preserved.

London's oldest ovens the famous ovens at Birch's—the Cornhill restaurant founded in 1690—are not to be used any more, but are being preserved as interesting relics.

On Life's Journey.

At forty a man should think he knows a little more than he knows at twenty, but he knows that he knows too.

Ostrich Racing Is Becoming Rage

The latest fad on the continent is ostrich racing, which is rapidly becoming a rage. This photograph, taken at Prague, Czechoslovakia, shows "Great Sport," one of the ostriches, after it had won the main race of the card.

Sporting Squibs

There are three golf courses on the Belgian coast.

Thirty years ago there were 20,000 miles of bicycle racing circuits in America.

Boxing is in such a slump in New York that Tex Rickard may have to go to work.

Los Angeles has signed Matt O'Farrell, a scumpro catcher who has been starring around San Francisco.

Moose Fuller, Waterbury, pitcher, is regarded as one of the leading amateur billiardists of Connecticut.

Manila is raising funds to build a stadium which will provide room for all outdoor sports except golf.

Chick Evans thinks the golf stroke should be made a part of gymnasium exercises in the public schools.

Herb Pennock of the Yankees is easily the most consistent twirler among the American league's long list of southpaws.

O. B. Keeler, gifted golf writer, changed Bobby Jones' diet at Merion and it helped the Southerner win the national golf title.

Detroit has an infielder, Gehring, who is a dead ringer for Hans Wagner in physique and style. He has yet to prove his ability.

"Mule" Shirley, understudy for Joe Judge at first base for Washington, was a football star at college before turning "pro" ball player.

With R. M. Groves, now a member of the Philadelphia American pitching staff, Manager Connie Mack should make a good bid for the pennant in 1925.

In Fred Hehnech, Connie Mack has developed not only a good southpaw pitcher but a fine batsman. Hehnech wins many a game for himself with a timely base hit.

Of the 20 activities supervised by the Yale Athletic association, only football is on an entirely self-supporting basis. Of the other major sports, baseball comes closest to being self-supporting, while the crew and track are far the more expensive.

The loss of Cedric Durr, who has been recalled by the St. Louis Browns, is a serious blow to the Angels. Durr played great ball while with the Angels and the fans on the coast do not see how he can be kept out of the regular line-up of the St. Louis team.

Largest Football Feet

Freshman Garry of the University of Minnesota, who promises to develop into a star player in the next two years, wears his football cleats on a pair of No. 14 shoes and it is said he covers a large area of ground in a short time. His feet are the largest at the university.

"Furs" Made of Silk.

George Burns Never Banished by Umpire

George Burns, outfielder, who passed out of the National league when elected by the Cincinnati Reds, has a record of never having been banished by an umpire in 12 years he was a big leaguer, 10 years with the Giants and 2 with the Reds. In forwarding to Burns his unconditional release, President August Hermann wrote:

"I desire to express my appreciation of your services to the Cincinnati club. They have always been more than satisfactory, and I wish you the greatest success in the future."

Hornsby Great Fielder

Rogers Hornsby is wearing the mantle that Hans Wagner tossed aside in the National league when he retired several years ago, writes H. G. Salsinger in the Detroit News. Hornsby is the logical successor to Wagner. Gradually the playing value of Hornsby is becoming established. He has been a star for several years, but because of his hitting, his holding was overlooked.

Yale Pays Its Tribute to Dartmouth Grid Team

Yale and Dartmouth are likely to build up permanent football relations because of the dazzling success of their first match in a quarter century.

The brilliant game, although resulting in a 14 to 14 tie, left alumni and undergraduate Yale keen for that eleven as a permanent addition to the Yale schedule.

How Yale felt about the game was indicated when Head Coach Tad Jones took the ball that had been used and went over to congratulate Jess Hawley, Dartmouth head coach, on the all-around Dartmouth play.

After he complimented Hawley, he handed him the ball and asked him to present it to Captain Bjorkman from Capt. Winslow Lovejoy of Yale, for the Dartmouth trophy room as a token that Dartmouth had fairly earned it.

Pierre Wertheimer May Come Again With Horse

If his stables produce another horse of the quality of Epinard he will bring it to America for another test of international racing. Pierre Wertheimer, owner of the French colt which was beaten in four starts here, said before sailing for home:

"Perhaps one of Epinard's sons will be capable of taking the measure of your best," he said; "assuredly, it will then be a pleasure to return to a country where I have had many courtesies shown me."

Haddock Lay Lots of Eggs.

FARM POULTRY

BREEDERS ENTITLED TO COMPLETE REST

Both the males and females in the breeding pens having fully done their duty during the summer are now entitled to a well-earned rest. It is imperative that they be permitted to fully recuperate at this time if they are to prove worthy breeders again next season. The numerous progeny departing themselves on the range is ample proof of the past labors of the breeding birds.

This strain on the fowls that comprised the breeding pens has been so small one, so we should allow them a complete rest and provide for their every comfort. It is extremely unwise to still persist, as some do, in encouraging the fowls to keep up laying by feeding stimulating foods. The breeding birds are entitled to a good rest and the conscientious poultryman will see that they get it.

The first thing in order then, is the breaking up of the pens and the separating of the sexes. The females should by all means now be freed of the annoyance of the males. It is essential to their obtaining a complete rest. The females can now be run together and given the use of the range. A range with plenty of green stuff offers an ideal place in which the hard-worked females may spend their summer vacation. Little attention need be given them, merely seeing to it that they have sufficient feed, clean, cool water, and comfortable, vermin-free sleeping quarters.

The food ration of these breeders should be such as not to stimulate production. Only two meals a day need be provided, but they should be full meals. While no surplus of food is needed for egg production now, yet sufficient quantities should be provided to enable the fowls to grow their new feathers, for molting will now be in order. And the tissues, affected by the wearing labors of production, must undergo repairs at this time, and the proper food and in sufficient quantities, are essential. When the fowls have liberal range, the animal and vegetable food secured by them will benefit them greatly.

The male birds should be penned apart and given roomy pens, so they may obtain the necessary exercise. If it is possible to arrange it so the males can also have the use of the range, it will be just so much better for them. It is always good policy to take the very best of care of the male, as he is always half of the pen. We have only one male where we have ten or more females. When we lose a good male we lose half our pen and often more—very much more—for often a male is good in every respect cannot be secured to replace him. Therefore it will readily be seen that to lose a good pen header for any reason is to sustain a big loss. A little extra pains exercised in the care of our pen headers, after the breeding season is over, will be time and labor well spent. It is preferable to have small runs for each male and have the runs covered with some suitable material to protect the plumage from the sun and weather.

It is a good plan at this time to cull out the less desirable hens. With the hens kept for laying purposes only it is a good plan to cull out those that have had their second laying year. It is seldom that they prove profitable after this when kept for laying only.

Eliminate Early Molter From All Laying Flocks

The beginner with poultry soon finds that there is a time in the fall when the egg returns become very low and often it is just the time when feed bills are high and he wishes to buy all feed not raised on the farm and stack it up for winter. This period of slack production usually occurs somewhere between August first and December first, and the length of time it lasts depends on the skill of the poultryman. Why do the egg returns fall at this time? Because there are too many early molting hens in the flock which have ceased producing eggs. And the pullets are not the early hatched birds that lay in the early fall and keep it up throughout the winter.

Must Produce Eggs

To be most profitable a flock must produce eggs the year around, in winter as well as summer. There is small profit in summer eggs, but when they get up to top-notch winter prices there is a handsome profit in them. The flock that does not produce a reasonable number of eggs during the period from November 1 to April 1 of each year is often kept at an actual loss for the year, as it is almost impossible to make an annual profit from the flock that lays all its eggs when the market is sagging.

Means of Ventilation

If no means of ventilation are provided it is a good plan to remove several panes of glass from the windows in the south side of the poultry house and replace with cheesecloth or unbleached muslin. Fresh air is admitted through the cloth and the stale air from the inside is permitted to escape. These cloth-covered openings do not lower the temperature of the interior of the building. Some contend that the house is warmer when arranged in this way.

Harold Knight's orchestra which played an engagement at Punxsutawney Tuesday evening had a hectic experience on their way home to Reynoldsville at the conclusion of the engagement according to the Punxsutawney Spirit, which says:

"They were being driven home in a closed car and the fog was so dense in pockets along the way that when the car near Punxsutawney it failed to make a curve and went over an eight foot embankment. The machine was wrecked as it turned completely over, but none of the occupants was injured."

Hold A Little "Thrift Week" Of Your Own!

Or better yet, hold fifty-two of them every year.

Thriftiness is a sensible state of mind that demands opportunities to save money without sacrificing comfort.

You can tell thrifty people by the way they read a newspaper, just as you can discover the other kind.

Headlines, sporting page, fashions—you know those people. And then, there are the readers who never put the paper down until they have had a look through the offers and the opportunities in the Classified Columns.

The ads in these columns were made for these people who never miss a chance to save money by using their common sense. It's full of the kind of chances to make dollars do their duty that you'll be glad to find.

Make a habit—a thrifty one—of reading the Classified Ads regularly!

The Piano's Revenge.
The concert was an immense success. Everybody worked hard; there was something for every willing hand, even if only to fetch chairs; but our special thanks are due to the vicar's daughter, who labored at the piano, which as usual fell upon her.—From a Provincial English paper in Punch, London.

Love.
Into our work for others we can take nothing greater than love, for love is a wonderful guide and teacher. Skill and experience are worth little without love.

202 Carolina Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Gentlemen—I was afflicted with the worst case of piles that you can imagine. For years I tried remedy after remedy without obtaining any lasting benefits, and when the Hamada Pile Tablets were recommended to me I felt it would be only another useless experiment, but I was willing to take another chance as I had got to where I was in agony about all the time.

After I commenced taking the second box I began to see results, and today I am absolutely cured of my trouble, and have almost forgotten that I ever had the piles. Hamada Pile Tablets have made a new man of me, and I want to do everything I can to bring them to the attention of those who are suffering as I was.

Sport Model

HERE is a Palm Beach sport model of green silk with stripes of black and white that is as simple as it is striking. It is sleeveless as most sport frocks are and has the scarf that is as inevitable as the blouse itself.

Peculiar "Crop" Retain.
An unusual rotation of crops, consisting of fish two years and oats one year, is reported by a recent writer in the Scottish Journal of Agriculture. This occurs in some localities in the reclaimed regions along the coast of England and the continent. The fish are raised in shallow pools, which are drained and cultivated every third year.

Goldfish as Companions.
Goldfish swimming in a pool are good for the sick room, say some Detroit physicians, as moving objects induce patients to forget their pains, and it is said this tendency is more pronounced in the aged and very young. Canaries, it is said, share with goldfish the honor of being the chief animate entertainment to the sick.

Pikes Reach Large Size.
The pike grows to an enormous size. Even if we do not credit the old chronicler's account of a fish which was two hundred years old and weighed about five hundred weight, we have authentic records of pike of seventy pounds which have been caught in England. Several of fifty pounds have been taken during the present generation. In some foreign countries they grow to even greater sizes. In the Lake of Geneva, for instance, you may see far down in the clear water large shadowy shapes whose weight must be enormous.

Amber.
Amber is a fossil resin, arising from the exudation of coniferous trees, as shown by its composition and physical properties, by its occurring in drops and globular masses, which resemble the resin seen exuding from the bark of pine trees, and by its common association with fossil woods. It is of a clear brownish-yellow color varying in shade, and is often clouded with irregular streaks. It is usually transparent and brittle, and burns readily, giving off dense fumes.

Mending.
If there is a jagged tear in your umbrella, instead of trying to darn it use court plaster on the inside. This will last quite a while unless rains are too heavy, and will show less than darning.

"Somebody left the window open this morning—the weather surely is getting snappy. I'm feeling better already—I like winter."

"But the winters aren't what they used to be since this family had that new furnace put in. They only build a fire in me about once every two months. What I like is to keep in a nice congenial glow all winter."

"Everybody used to gather around me. I sure was the center of attraction in those days. But now nobody pays any more attention to me than if I was a broken chair. They're all off me."

"I don't know now, either. My owner is showing me to some lady and gentleman who have just called. Gee, I wish he'd build a fire in me!"

"What d'you know about that? I've been advertised in the Progress classified columns and this man and his wife are buying me and they have a great big room for me to keep nice and warm all winter. Oh boy—that's the life for me!"

WASHINGTON—At last the secret of Coolidge's strength in West Virginia, which he carried at the recent election despite the fact that John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, was West Virginia's "favorite son," is revealed.

The facts were, literally, "smoked out."

It develops that Coolidge has long been a booster for one of West Virginia's prize products—the stogie.

Whether it was their flavor he liked, or the price, which always has been kept comparatively low, isn't disclosed. Probably the price had something to do with it, however, for in writing to a stogie maker in Fairmont, in August, 1919, when he was still governor of Massachusetts, enclosing a check for a new consignment of "smokes," the president-to-be wrote:

"I have smoked them for some years and therefore hope the price will not further advance."

Word of this letter and Coolidge's endorsement of the long, "rag-tail" smokes on which no little of West Virginia's prosperity has been based, was circulated in the state's most loyal stogie circles during the campaign.

At the same time Davis' preference for smoothly rolled, gilt-banded Havanas was pointed out. Result: The stogie smokers swept the state for Cool.

MARCELLUS SHIELDS, chief clerk of the House appropriations committee, on whom falls a big share of the detailed work of drafting government supply bills calling for the expenditure of between three and four billion dollars annually, admits that as a boy and youth he couldn't keep accounts straight even when they involved only a few dollars or cents.

Shields lost his first job because he couldn't make change.

Fastidious Bears.

Bears, especially those of the white species, are rather fastidious about their toilets. They are said to comb their hair with their curved claws, and lick themselves to make their hair shine.

Therefore Avoid Mean Actions.

One great trouble in doing a mean action is that you are compelled to associate with yourself afterward. If you could only face nothing to do with a man who was guilty of such meanness, it would be a relief.

West African Groom's Appreciation.

On the day after the marriage ceremony the native bridegroom of West Africa shows his appreciation of his wife by powdering her head with fine clay.

Softened Hard Water.

Where the ordinary water is hard, get a barrel and fill it half full of wood ashes. Then add water to the brim. This makes lye, and a gallon of this in a large kettle of hard water will make it as soft as rain water.

FORMER GOVERNOR CAMPBELL OF OHIO DIES

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 18. (INS.)—Within an hour of the time he has said in a public speech he expected to live to reach 100 years, James E. Campbell, 81, former governor of Ohio, died suddenly just before midnight last night. He had just returned from a testimonial dinner given Judge John E. Sater, of the federal district court, upon his retirement.

Campbell was elected governor of Ohio in 1889, defeating Joseph B. Foraker. He was chairman of the Democratic delegation to the New York convention last July, and nominated John W. Davis for the presidency and had been prominent in the affairs of his party for a generation.

Polyglot Legislature

In the Swiss legislature members addressing the house may use either German, French or Italian, since educated Swiss are apt to know at least two or three languages. If requested the interpreter must give the substance of the address made. Any motion or report is read in the two official languages, German and French.

Now, however, any penny that he can evade his watchful eye earns its freedom.

THE hot air of the present Senate chamber is so objectionable to Senator Royal Copeland of New York, a physician and authority on fresh air and hygiene, that he wants Uncle Sam to spend $450,000 to provide better ventilated quarters for senatorial fulminations.

Copeland's plan would push the Senate chamber right back against the north wall of the Senate wing, where windows could open directly to the outside air.

The historic marble room, where senators now receive visitors, and the resplendent gilt and crystal room designed for the president would be lost in the shuffle.

The space now occupied by the imposing marble room would be included in the chamber with the vice president's dais marking its geographical center.

The president's room would become a senatorial wash room.

WORD reaching Washington from Iowa indicates that state are badly scrambled with respect to the contest of Brookhart's election by Dan Steck, Democratic runner-up.

If Steck wins out in the present contest, Brookhart's Republican opponents fear the fighting sharp shooter, who has been officially read out of his party by Senate G. O. P. leaders, will be in position to contest the re-election of Senator Cummins in 1926.

As that will be an "off-year" election, and as Brookhart's supporters never have troubled themselves about his party "regulars," they fear the senior senator from Iowa may state would be a contest the fight of his life.

ATLANTA FEDERAL PRISON ARRESTED

By H. C. HAMILTON

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 18 (INS.)—A. I. Sartain, deposed warden and L. J. Fletcher, his deposed deputy, were placed under arrest in the Federal building here today on charges of having accepted bribes at the United States penitentiary.

The arrests were made within a short time after the Federal Grand Jury had started investigation of affairs at the penitentiary by examining a number of witnesses who were brought to the city from the prison.

Warrants for the two former officials were determined upon during a conference between District Attorney Clint W. Hager and W. E. Donovan, Assistant Attorney General, who was sent here from Washington to conduct the investigation.

Under The Dome Of The Capitol

Harrisburg, Dec. 18 (INS)—The Governor beat 'em to it.

While most of the Legislators and organization men in particular, were bidding for favor with the taxpayers of the State by announcements that they favored a short session, the Governor, whom, everyone believed would cause it to run far into the summer, if he were able to retain some of the power that he held at the last session, came forth with an announcement that he was heartily in favor of a short and economical session.

At the same time he announced his budget and appropriation bills would be ready for the Assembly as soon as they were ready to receive them. This caused no little surprise, because of the walls caused when the figures of Attorney General Samuel Lewis were made known.

Important as the budget is and may seem to the average layman at this time, it is being pushed into the background. The matter of most importance at this time is the selection of a Speaker for the House, with indications, to date, pointing to the election, by the organization forces of Clyde Harer, of Williamsport.

Pennsylvania, the Keystone State, of the Nation may have a history of its contribution during the World War—if the legislature will pass a measure providing for the writing of it? In the Capitol is the most complete and comprehensive collection of historical data ever assembled and it has been lying inactive—practically forgotten since those joyous days following the signing of the Armistice in November 1918.

Governor Pinchot, tomorrow, will address a political meeting in Washington and while rumors have been flying thick and fast about the Hill that he will make some indicative remarks, the Governor has denied it.

The thing that has political leaders puzzled at the present time, is what will be done if the representatives from all of the interior districts decide to lineup against the forces from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, who at each session, largely dominate the entire actions of the Legislature.

This puzzling factor loomed like a ogre in their minds following the recent speech of Mayor Kendrick in Philadelphia when he, despite the fact that it was generally conceded the budget was insufficient, declared he anticipated this Legislature to appropriate money to complete the bridge there.

Most everyone thought that the last Legislature has settled the bridge question for all time and this outburst from Philadelphia's Mayor was not at all pleasing to their ears. There are rumors, even now, of employing the now famous bloc system in the House to prevent the two largest cities from dominating this session. The trouble lies in finding a leader, however—but the rumor is there and it is going to be hard to kill, according to some leaders.

And even while the factional battles are raging for control of the House during the 1925 session, leaders are beginning to advance their choice for gubernatorial candidates.

While it seems a little previous, it is a condition that exists prior to each Legislative session preceding the gubernatorial election and while several have already declared themselves as being candidates, they are being branded with different factional tendencies of "wet" or "dry." This may mean that W. Harry Baker, the State Republican Chairman will have to assume entire responsibility and come to the front himself as a candidate. This is very likely, according to some of the politicians.

Schedule Next Week

Monday, 7:00 p. m., West Side M. E. vs. East End M. E.

Tuesday 8:15 p. m., Lutheran vs. St. Francis; Trinity vs. Presbyterian.

The results of the games, Tuesday night were: Presbyterian, 12, West Side M. E. 11; East End M. E. 13, Lutherans 6. The first game, somewhat tighter than the second, was a well earned victory for the Presbyterians. The first quarter ended 3 to 2 and the second went three minutes before Stewart caged a neat one but Wallace dribbling the length of the floor gathered in two for West Side boys and the score kept wavering until the final whistle. Shaffner and Zeigler came through with points for the Westsiders while Hile and Edmiston scored one each for the Presbyterians. The second half was the better of the Lutheran-East End game, going five minutes before Delaney tossed a finger and who secured all the points in that half for his team. H. Senner, his "big lack" not two in the first. The Lutheran squad played a fair floor game but had hard luck finding the basket. Getts, Shaw and Welch were credited with one each. Too much bunching by all teams was an outstanding fault.

The lineup: West Side M. E., Wallace, Shaffner, fds; Zeigler, c; Thorn, Derrick, gds.

Presbyterians: Stewart, Hile, fd; Edmiston; K. Roseberry, Withrow, gds.

Lutherans: Getts, Rupert, fds; Shaw; Smith, Welch, Miller, eds.

East End M. E.: Delaney, H. Senner, fds; Poorman; Patchel, Confer, C. Senner, gds.

State Sabbath School Association Adds New Field Worker To Staff

Clearfield County Sunday school workers will be happy in the knowledge that the State Sabbath School Association has added a new field worker for at least part time.

In every county there has been felt the need of a Superintendent of School Administration and it was hoped that the total amount of this year's working budget might have been raised to enable the State Association to put on regularly the full time worker in this important department.

Mr. L. L. Aber of Lackawanna county has been chosen and will give part time to this work.

Mr. Aber is splendidly equipped for this important position. He is in the prime of life, sincere and enthusiastic in the work of the Sabbath school; and is now and has been for a number of years General Secretary of Lackawanna County Sabbath School Association.

He will write for the Pennsylvania Herald, will send bulletins to secretaries and superintendents, to pastors and Administrative Division Superintendents and attend County Sunday School Conventions, giving special attention to the School Administration part of the program.

This is certainly a notable and valuable addition to Sabbath School work throughout the State.

JUNIOR BANKERS ORGANIZE

A local Chapter of the American Institute of Banking was organized at the Hotel Dimeling last evening at a meeting called for that purpose. Forty-five members of the working forces of the banks in Clearfield and Curwensville were present. The following officers were elected.

President—E. Clair Davis.
Vice Presidents—James Humphreys, D. C. Griffith.
Secretary—J. Fred Gaultin.
Treasurer—R. B. Wallace.

The Board of Governors is made up of the following persons in addition to the officers named above.

P. T. Davis, H. S. Whiteman, Jr., R. L. Fulton, L. F. Gaultin, L. N. Roupoux, Joseph F. Thompson.

The American Institute of Banking is a national wide organization sponsored by the American Bankers Association. Its chief aim is educational work among the younger bankers. Chapters have been organized in all cities of any importance. The Institute has developed during the last twenty years standard courses of instruction covering the several phases of the work of Banking and Finance. It now claims to be the largest educational organization in the world having over 33,000 students enrolled.

The movement to organize this work in this vicinity was launched a few weeks ago when a meeting of about seventy representatives from the Banks of the region was held at DuBois. Mr. Norman T. Hayes, Assistant Cashier of the Philadelphia National Bank and member of the National Executive Council was present and explained the workings of the institute. Mr. Hayes is himself a graduate of the institute and has been active in the work of the National body. As a result of this meeting a Chapter has been formed at DuBois, one at Clearfield and it is hoped that one will later be started at Philipsburg for the banks of that region.

The Clearfield Group has decided to take up the study of the Banking Fundamentals course and have been fortunate in securing the services of W. Elbridge Brown, Esq., as instructor.

Meetings will be held weekly starting soon after the holidays.

In addition to the study courses the plan contemplated is to hold general meetings at certain intervals which will be addressed by worthwhile speakers on Banking subjects.

Knitted Suit

THE knitted sport suit is being exploited in large checks and plaids, or Palm Beach wear. This one, in black, white and gray, and consists of two pieces, the jumper and skirt. The narrowest of belts are used for such outfits.

There are many interesting touches to this frock but nothing is more novel than the collar effect which is built up from the frock and consists of two rows of gilt embroidery. The simulated pockets make an excellent place for embroidery and the bands at the far times heighten the interest. Of course this is a French model, one of the very latest.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and Stewart, and every live druggist has it. It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints. Joint-Ease is the name, so-called because it is commended solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments. Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints, and in just a few seconds, it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

PENNSY-GRAMS

Dillsburg, Dec. 18. (INS.)—Fulfilling her promise to "take care of the children," an eight-year-old girl rescued two of them from their burning home, in the mountains about two miles from here, according to word reaching here. Yesterday the mother, Mrs. Fred C. Neill, drove into this town to meet her husband, first cautioning Carrie, the girl, to look after the children. The girl was in the barn when her five-year-old brother ran screaming from the home. The little heroine ran into the burning kitchen, lifted a 10-months-old baby from her crib, located a three-year-old brother, who was crying on the floor, and took them to safety. The home was destroyed.

Harrisburg, Dec. 18. (INS.)—The state's conscience fund was enriched $2 yesterday when the state treasury received that amount from a man in New Berlin, who signed himself "yours for honesty." The money, the man wrote, was due the state from settlement of an estate years ago when "we claimed $100 was exempt from the two per cent inheritance tax then in force."

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 18. (INS.)—Morris Friedman, former Pittsburgh brewer, was a free man today following his acquittal by a jury of charges that he paid more than $25,000 to prohibition officials to operate his plant on a pre-war basis. The cost was the first of several sensational investigations into the workings of prohibition forces in this section.

Tarentum, Pa., Dec. 18. (INS.)—John Pettigrew and his wife are in the Allegheny Valley hospital here in a serious condition following Pettigrew's rampage last night when he shot his wife three times and then fired a bullet into his own head. After the shooting Pettigrew ran several squares to a glass plant threatening pursuers with his revolver.

Police could ascribe no motive for the shooting. Both of the victims are expected to live.
